Description

I am selling a house in the Alameda neighborhood, a mixed residential and commercial area.

House with two levels built and a terrace on the third floor which is covered. This property on the first level has large spaces, what was the living room is still intact, kitchen, patios and a small wine cellar, on its first floor it has double height, which allows greater spaciousness and lighting, it has a covered patio from the third floor and this helps the house stay fresh and with natural light during daylight hours. The second level also has double height, three bedrooms or large spaces, which today are used as administrative offices, has a full bathroom, and access to the third floor terrace, this terrace was completely covered and The house even has the foundation to be able to build the third floor.
